The insider tip among the circular trails, largely on a natural surface through gentle terrain, sun-kissed and particularly beautiful in winters with little snow.
You leave the village centre of Haslen and after just a few steps you are in the wide, agricultural area of Hinterhaslen. After crossing a small stream, the meadow path is mostly flat and leads past well-kept farms in the direction of Teufen. At the edge of the forest, at the "Auen" property, do not follow the path down to the confluence of the Sitter and Rotbach rivers (a popular bathing spot in summer), but turn right and at the next property you will reach the corridor road, which you follow to the main road. Cross the road and after a few metres on the pavement, the hiking trail leads uphill through a short section of forest to Innerrhoden's most beautifully situated wayside shrine (St. Wendelin) with a view of the Säntis. On this section you have an enormously beautiful view of the Alpstein greeting you on the horizon. With the Hasl parish church in view, the meadow path now leads down to the road you crossed earlier and it is now only a few steps back to the starting point.

Tip: In the morning and evening hours, the Alpstein massif shines particularly beautifully in the distance.

Note: Please follow the white signposts «Rondom Hasle». The trail can be completed in both directions.
